400 Miners Feared Lost in Germany

SAARBRUECKEN, Germany (AP) — Some 400 German coal miners are missing and feared trapped by a mine explosion today near here. Eleven men were officially reported dead and 70 injured.

The Saarland State Mine office said 480 miners were in the mine at the time of the explosion. Up to 1 p.m., about four hours after the blast, only 11 dead and 70 injured had been accounted for.

The remaining 399 miners were officially listed as missing.

The Coal Mine Office of the State of Saarland announced 216 miners in the workings at the time of the blast were rescued or reached safety.

Many of those saved suffered severe injuries.

The explosion occurred about 9 a.m. at a depth of 1,500 feet in the so-called Aisbach layer of the mine. The Mining Office blamed the blast on coal dust gas.

The mine is at nearby Voelklingen.

Ambulances, fire brigades and rescue crews from the entire coal-rich Saar Basin raced to the area. Screaming sirens alerted the entire region and families of men employed at the mine began clustering at the entrance to the mine.

A rescue crew from the U.S. Army in Kaiserlautern was sent to the area to assist.

Direction of rescue operations was taken over by the Saarland minister of labor, Paul Simonis. Helicopters assisted in taking the injured to hospitals.

The mine has won several prizes for safety.

Germany's worst postwar disaster was in 1946 in the Ruhr when 402 men lost their lives.

The most disastrous mining accident in the Saar, a rich coal and steel basin, was in 1907 when 148 miners lost their lives at the Reder mine near Saarbruecken.

In the 1950-60 decade at least 267 miners died in accidents in West and East Germany.

HECKLED BY COMMUNISTS — U. S. ATTORNEY GENERAL Robert Kennedy, center, delivering a speech at the Wasoda University in Tokyo, paused in his speech and invited student Yuzo Tachiya, left, to the platform to ask a question. Kennedy was given a rousing welcome by the students, but Communist students heckled his speech and apparently sabotaged the public address system. — NEA Telephoto

U. S. Copters Lost in Viet Nam Fighting

By ROY ESSOYAN

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Two U.S. Army helicopters have been lost and three others hit by Communist fire in two combat operations in three days. There have been no casualties among the American crewmen or Vietnamese soldiers aboard, but a U.S. source reported the Communists "are getting our range."

"They're learning to aim ahead of us, to compensate for the forward movement of the aircraft," the informant said after one helicopter crashed and two others were hit while ferrying Vietnamese government troops into action Tuesday.

It was not determined whether the plane that crashed went down because of enemy fire or mechanical trouble. But one helicopter was shot down and another hit in a similar operation Sunday.

No official information was disclosed on Tuesday's mission, the third such operation since the United States committed itself to the defense of South Viet Nam and ordered a major U.S. military buildup here two months ago.

However, sources said the Communist Viet Cong guerrillas just as they did Sunday, escaped before assault forces could surround them. The target area was believed to have been 30 miles southeast of Saigon.

Informants said 15 American Army helicopters shuttled two battalions of Vietnamese infantry — 564 men — into the combat area while three other battalions moved overland.

The helicopter crashed as it was coming in to a rice field to pick up a fresh load of troops after having just unloaded one group of soldiers in the target area.

The U.S. Navy aircraft ferry Cora docked here today under heavy security measures and officials declined comment on its mission. But reliable sources said it was delivering about 16 single-engine reconnaissance planes and 200 Army pilots and ground crewmen.

U. S., British Will Share Testing Sites

WASHINGTON (AP) — A formal announcement of British permission to use Christmas Island for U.S. atomic testing in the atmosphere is expected shortly. Informants said today President Kennedy will follow soon with a decision on whether to go ahead with atmospheric explosions.

It was also reliably reported that Britain some time ago sought and received U.S. permission to test a nuclear device underground at the Nevada proving grounds.

However, the Nevada project has not yet been worked out, and is not related to the Christmas Island plans, these informants said.

LONDON (AP) — Diplomatic sources said today the United States and Britain will open nuclear testing sites to each other under an exchange arrangement beneficial to both.

Prime Minister Harold Macmillan is expected to make an announcement in the House of Commons Thursday.

This is the plan: Britain will make Christmas Island in the Pacific available to the Americans for atmospheric tests in exchange for the right to fire underground shots in the caverns of the Nevada desert.

Both countries will simplify their planning problems by making these facilities available to each other.

The informants stressed that this arrangement does not of itself mean that any specific types of tests will be conducted. The decision to set off explosions is a separate one taken at the highest level of each government.

Asks Public to Share in Space Corporation

By VERN HAUGLAND

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy urged Congress today to charter a huge corporation — with shares to be sold to the public and communications firms — to build and run a worldwide space network for radio, television and telephone.

More than $1 billion in first-class voting stock in the "Communications Satellite Corporation" would be made available to the public and communications carriers at not less than $1,000 a share. Other secondary shares could be purchased only by companies in the communications field.

The corporation would be designed to make a profit — ultimately a good one — from the rental of satellite channels to firms such as telephone and telegraph companies and to other authorized organizations, foreign and domestic.

The satellites, as relay stations in space, would open innumerable channels for international communications and make possible ocean-spanning telecasts.

Kennedy set forth the plan in a letter to the speaker of the House and the president of the Senate. The letter accompanied proposed legislation, "the Communications Satellite Act of 1962," that spelled out the details.

There has been controversy and hearings over who should own the projected satellite communication.

Researches Finds More About Cancer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Cancer researchers working with animals have found that substantially less blood flows through tumors than had been suspected. This has led them to the conclusion that less than 5 per cent of any cancer-fighting drug makes it to the malignant area.

The Public Health Service disclosed on Tuesday the findings of National Cancer Institute researchers who transplanted tumors in rats and mice.

They found that "much less blood flowed through the tumors than had been supposed," the service said.

"This led them to suggest that the effectiveness of drugs may have to be re-evaluated because the doses received by a tumor in a single treatment may be too small."

The service said the blood flow findings were uniformly true regardless of the size, type or location of the tumor.

The report emphasized that the findings were based only on animal experiments and that "more laboratory study will be required before the findings can be applied to the treatment of human cancer."

Legality of Several State Laws Upheld

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Several state fiscal laws, including the vital Revenue Stabilization Act, were upheld Tuesday by Pulaski Chancellor Guy E. Williams.

Williams, in sustaining a demurrer by Atty. Gen. Frank Holt, said it "would be presumptuous on my part" to hold the laws unconstitutional.

D. D. Panich, attorney for J. J. Hoker, a Little Rock shoe representative who filed the suit, immediately said he would take the matter to the Arkansas Supreme Court.

Williams said the state would go "from light into darkness" if the laws had been held invalid.

The Revenue Stabilization Act was termed by Williams as "the greatest piece of legislation ever enacted" in Arkansas.

At question also were the validity of the general accounting procedures act and three 1961 appropriations laws providing funds for the state Highway Department, the Education Department and Gov. Orval E. Faubus' emergency fund.

The stabilization measure was defended in court by W. J. Smith, legal advisor to Faubus and author of the law.

The law provides the mechanics for distributing available state tax money to the various agencies on an equitable basis.

State revenue auditing procedures of the comptroller's office are overseen by the accounting laws.

Holt, who defended the governor's emergency fund, pointed out that a similar measure in Oklahoma had been upheld by the state Supreme Court.

In his demurrer which was sustained, Holt urged Hoker's suit be dismissed for lack of substantial evidence to warrant a case.

Russia Says U.S. to Invade Cuba; Will Back Castro

By TOM HOGE

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Soviet Delegate Valerian A. Zorin asserted today the United States is completing final preparations for "a new aggression" against Cuba. He added that the Soviet Union is standing by its earlier pledge to support the Fidel Castro regime with all necessary assistance.

Zorin told the General Assembly's 104-nation Political Committee "the situation is more than alarming."

Referring to the abortive landing of Cuban refugee forces in Cuba last April, Zorin said: "The United States did not choose to draw the appropriate lesson from this failure at Cuban intervention. The United States is not only continuing, but is stepping up an aggressive policy against the government and people of Cuba."

He then recalled the Soviet Union's pledge of assistance.

The Soviet delegate charged that recent diplomatic and economic measures taken by the United States were intended to isolate Cuba as a preliminary to an attack.

Zorin spoke after the Guatemalan delegate, Guillermo Flores Avendano, had denied Cuban charges that Cuban refugees are being trained in Guatemala for an attack on Cuba. He charged that the Castro government, on the other hand, poses a threat to Guatemala and to other Latin American countries including El Salvador, Panama, Honduras and Costa Rica.

Huge Mass of Cold Air Moves Across Nation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A huge mass of cold air held a firm grip across most of the nation from the Rockies eastward to New England today. The freezing line extended deep into Dixie.

Below zero weather again, chilled most of the north central region. The raw, northerly winds spread the biting cold into the Northeast and below zero temperatures stung sections of New England and upstate New York.

The South felt the effects of the fast-moving cold mass. Readings in the 30s cooled the eastern Gulf Coast and northern Florida. It was below freezing, 31, in Mobile, Ala. Temperatures were in the teens in Tennessee and edged to near zero in parts of Kentucky. They were in the 20s in Alabama, Georgia, North Carolina and Arkansas.

Readings along the entire Atlantic seaboard were 20 to 40 degrees lower than 24 hours earlier and appeared headed for the 50s in southern Florida. However, it was 62 in Miami compared to a near-freezing 34 in Tallahassee, in northwest Florida.

There was some hope of a little relief from the frigid weather in the winter-weary sections of the Midwest.

A southerly flow of milder air brought a moderating trend in temperatures from New Mexico and northwest Texas northward through the Plains states into the northern Rockies. Readings were some 20 degrees higher than Monday morning.

In International Falls, Minn., the reading at noon Monday was 14 below. This morning it was -24 compared to -31 Monday morning.

In the Northeast, where no immediate relief from the cold was indicated, temperatures ranged from -6 in Montpelier, Vt., and Massena, N.Y., to 12 above in Boston.

Muldrow Is Guilty of Hit, Run Slaying

A Hempstead Circuit Court jury late yesterday convicted Eddie Muldrow, about 35, Hope Negro, for the hit-run slaying Jan. 21 of Leon Booker, 40 of Washington, Ark.

Muldrow was accused of deliberately running down Booker with a car as the latter walked along Highway 4 near Washington. The two had had trouble earlier in the night.

Judge Lyle Brown today sentenced Eddie Muldrow to eight years in the Arkansas penitentiary for the hit-run murder of Leon Booker.

The prosecution asked for a first degree murder conviction but this was reduced to second degree by the jury. The jury was unable to agree on a sentence recommendation and Circuit Judge Lyle Brown is scheduled to formally sentence Muldrow at 1:30 p.m. today.

In other action three cases were settled out of court, all personal injury and damage suits. They were Ray Allen vs. McKesson & Robbins Co.; Leo Lehman vs. So. Electric Power Co. and Vernon Starr vs. William Stanley Sr.

Dr. Bud Frey, Baptist Missionary to Southern Rhodesia, federation of South Africa, was guest speaker Tuesday before Hope Kiwanis Club and told of the political and economic conditions of the area.

Archie Trout arranged the program and guests included Colonel Samuel Smith, Joe Booker, Tom Ed Hays and Dr. Balentine.

Economic Talks Are Planned

WASHINGTON (AP) — A White House conference of leaders of business, labor and the general public to discuss U.S. economic problems has been announced by Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg.

Goldberg said the conference, which probably will become a periodic affair, is tentatively scheduled before the middle of the year.

The dog will only work with one officer as the local force has altered shifts (month on day and month on night) it would be necessary to purchase two dogs in order to have one on duty every night. The animals are used widespread in police work and have proved very successful. The Police Department wants one.

Slight Injuries in Accident

Yesterday noon on the Spring Hill road an auto driven by Elvin Neal, student, crashed into a truck driven by Perry Moe with extensive damage resulting to both vehicles. The divers and two girl students riding with Neal escaped serious injury. However, two were taken to a local hospital for treatment of minor injuries. According to investigating officers Neal was in process of passing when the truck turned left across the road in front of the car.

Texarkana Trial Nears Jury Today

BOSTON, Tex. (AP) — The murder trial of Dale Spriggs, a Texarkana garage operator, is expected to go to the jury today following conclusion of summations.

Spriggs is accused of fatally shooting Johnnie Thompson, a 40-year-old contractor, last Aug. 11 at his garage.

Taking the witness stand Tuesday in his own behalf, Spriggs said he shot Thompson after the victim advanced toward him with his hand in his pocket.

He told the court he had lived in fear of Thompson during the seven years he knew him and that on the day of the shooting Thompson demanded $1,500 from him.

Deputy Sheriff Ed Long took the stand and quoted Spriggs as saying he "had to do it." Long said he went to the shop at the request of Spriggs.

The deputy, as did defense and prosecution witnesses, testified that Thompson, who had been released from the Texas state prison only a few months before the shooting, was a violent man.

Police Chief Jack O'Brien testified and verified Thompson's prison record.

The jury of 10 men and two women was completed late Monday. Judge Herbert Line is hearing the case.

Memorial Fund Started for Cancer

In response to numerous requests from families, other groups and individuals, the American Cancer Society has inaugurated a memorial fund to which families and friends of cancer victims may contribute, according to Mrs. Olin Purcell, Hope, Memorial Fund Chairman for the Hempstead County Unit.

"The memorial fund has been established to provide a practical and fitting means by which families or friends can commemorate a loved one who has died of cancer or other cause," Mrs. Purcell said.

"Contributions made in memory of a family member or a friend are acknowledged by the American Cancer Society, and a Memorial Card is sent to the family stating that a Memorial has been received and giving the name of the donor," Mrs. Purcell said.

Memorial contributions may be sent to the American Cancer Society, in care of Mrs. Olin Purcell, 112 West 7th, Hope, Ark.

Restaurants Desegregate in Memphis

MEMPHIS (AP) — Continuing a quiet shift away from rigid racial bars, Memphis has desegregated 30 downtown restaurants, lunch counters and snack bars.

The policy change, accomplished without incident Tuesday, involved eating facilities in department stores, variety stores and two drugstore chains. Other restaurants were not affected.

The shift was the result of negotiations by the Memphis Committee on Community Relations. The private talks bore fruit after Negro leaders agreed to stop a series of sit-ins and "freedom marches."

Burke Marshall, assistant attorney general, wired Mayor Henry Loeb from Washington praising the development.

Man Claims Sentence Was Illegal

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A Crittenden County man, who claims he was sentenced illegally for burglary and grand larceny, was authorized to proceed with his case in federal District Court as a pauper Tuesday.

U.S. Judge Gordon E. Young allowed John Ed Grayer to file a 12-page hand written petition for a writ of habeas corpus which he prepared while in the Arkansas state penitentiary.

Grayer contends the Arkansas Supreme Court erred Jan. 29 when it held that statute of limitations on the charge had not expired when Grayer was tried in 1958 for the alleged crime which occurred in 1952.

Grayer claims the trial and sentence were illegal because of an Arkansas statute holding no person except a fugitive may be prosecuted for a felony unless a charge is filed within three years of commission of the crime.

In overruling Grayer, the Supreme Court held that the time limit applied to the period that a person was a resident of the state. It continued that because Grayer served 4 and one-half in the Tennessee state prison before being charged in 1957, the statute of limitations on the 1952 offense had not expired.

system—the government, a monopoly by one firm or group of firms, or open to all comers.
Kennedy urged today that both the public and the communications carriers be let in on the deal. Last July he announced he was in favor of private ownership.
The proposal called for the issue of a million shares of Class A voting stock. While these shares would be eligible for dividends, the payoff might be a long time coming.

Government officials warned that the initial costs of a satellite communications system will be so great that earnings in the first years will be small. Estimates of the costs of such a system range upward from $500 million and it is unlikely to become a profitable venture in less than a decade.

Just when the space network will be a reality is a matter of dispute.

The director of the President's Space Council, Dr. E. C. Welsh, has said it will be some years before the system is ready to be launched. Some private companies had testified they could do the job by 1963, Welsh said, however, these companies have changed their tune and now are speaking of 1965.

As forerunners of the program, the United States planned to put four communications satellites in orbit this year.

If Kennedy's proposal should be approved, the government would handle the corporation's satellite launchings. The corporation would pay for the space vehicles and other expenses involved.

Kennedy included a number of provisions designed to guard against domination by any one stockholder.

Population of the U. S. increased

Stagg Wants to Leave Hospital

STOCKTON, Calif. (AP)—Amos
Alonzo Stagg wants to go home.
But his doctor says the Grand Old Man of football has to stay in Dameron Hospital for another week.

Stagg, 99, has been in the hospital since Saturday because of an ailing right knee.

"He's doing fine," said the doctor. "He's out of bed, sitting in a chair and anxious to get out of the hospital. But we'll keep him in the hospital for about a week."

Stagg retired in 1960 after 70 years as a football coach. He will be 100 years old in August.

Except for tiny area shown on forecast map, precipitation will range from below normal to normal over the country.

A warming trend is in the offing for the South, Southwest and Plains, with normal or below temperatures elsewhere.

JFK Wants

Quick Steel Settlement

By NORMAN WALKER,
Associated Press Labor Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—President
Kennedy reportedly wants a steel labor settlement in a matter of weeks. If there is delay, he has full power to head off a midyear strike and a disruptive steel inventory buildup as well.

The reason is that the 80-day cooling-off procedures of the Taft-Hartley Act can be invoked to prevent a strike from occurring as well as to stop one that has already started.

With both the President and Secretary of Labor Arthur J.
Goldberg saying repeatedly that a steel strike at this stage of half-developed economic recovery is unthinkable, it's logical to assume the administration wouldn't let a steel walkout occur if threatened.

But besides not wanting a strike the administration wants to avoid the usual overstocking of steel in advance of a strike threat. Both Kennedy and Goldberg have said this should be avoided as economically disruptive—a production let-down inevitably following a production buildup.

Thus if the industry and Steelworkers Union fail to heed the administration's advice to come up with an early settlement, it should surprise no one if the President lets it be known publicly he intends to trigger the Taft-Hartley procedures into effect early.

A promise of this sort—that there would be no strike when present steel contracts expire on June 30—certainly would substantially discourage steel customers from overstocking.

If all this came about, the threat of any steel strike would be put off from July 1 to past mid-September when the 80-day no-strike period ran out. Even then the odds probably would be against a walkout because Congress, too, could step in to prevent one.

Such discussion is perhaps premature. It's still early in the game. The Steelworkers Union is to come up with its demands for contract changes today in Pittsburgh. Such demands are traditionally a statement of goals rather than realistically expected attainments.

Right now the administration is pouring the heat on both sides to get going toward an early agreement. A settlement date goal is rumored to be March 1 or soon thereafter. It is known officials fear stockpiling will get under way in earnest in the second quarter, April through June.

Faced with this situation, the industry and union probably will engage in some intense informal and behind-scenes negotiating in next few weeks.

Dutch Plane,

Troops Held in Alaska

AMSTERDAM, Netherlands

(AP)—A KLM airliner bound to West New Guinea with a number of Dutch troops in civilian clothes is held up in Anchorage, Alaska, after being refused a landing permit in Tokyo, a KLM spokesman said today.

The liner is a DC8 jet, somewhat bigger than the DC7C normally used on the commercial run from Amsterdam to the New Guinea city of Biak.

A Japanese Foreign Ministry official in Tokyo said Japan could not recognize the switch
"for technical reasons."

Passengers aboard the DC8 were said to include 68 multi-clad soldiers headed to garrisons in West New Guinea—Dutch territory which is claimed by neighboring Indonesia.

Hans Burghard, KLM manager in Japan, said he had been advised the DC8 was employed for the flight which left Amsterdam Tuesday night because no DC8C was available, but the line will use its regular planes on subsequent flights.

Aviation experts explained that an International Civil Aviation Treaty prohibits a country from refusing the landing of a regular commercial airliner even if troops are aboard, though chartered planes carrying troops can be barred.

Refueling of a chartered Dutch troop plane last week at Anchorage, Honolulu and Wake Island on a flight to New Guinea prompted an attack by about 100 Indonesian students Monday on the U.S. Embassy in Jakarta, Indonesia. They stoned the building, smashed cars in the compound and ripped down the American flag.

The attack came after the

No Hope for

Power's Release

MILLEDGEVILLE, Ga. (AP)—

The wife of an American U2 pilot imprisoned by the Russians says her husband has no hope that his 30-year sentence for espionage will be reduced.

Mrs. Francis Gary Powers said she received a letter from her husband that expressed despondency over word from Soviet officials that the seriousness of his crime prevented consideration of clemency or parole.

It is estimated that $1 of every $3 spent by Americans for "dining out" is at roadside restaurants.

Sen. Fulbright

Files for Re-election

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Sen. J.
William Fulbright, D-Ark., filed today as a candidate for Democratic nomination to a fourth six-year term.

He signed his party loyalty and corrupt practices pledges at the office of Secretary of State Nancy J. Hall. He also paid his $1,500 filing fee.

So far Fulbright has no opposition.

There has been speculation that Gov. Orval E. Faubus might run against him, but Faubus has given no clear indication of his political plans.

Earlier Rep. Dale Alford had been reported as a possible opponent of Fulbright, but, on Dec. 2, Alford announced he was a candidate for governor.

During the waning months of last year, Fulbright made an extensive speaking tour of the state — a maneuver that was interper-ted as taking the offensive months in advance against prospective foes in next summer's primaries.

Shortly before he returned to Washington for the new session of Congress, Fulbright announced that he was a candidate for another term.

He is chairman of the powerful Senate Foreign Relations Committee and is considered an authority on international affairs.

He was first elected to the Senate in 1944 while serving a first term in the national House of Representatives.

Mrs. Fulbright accompanied her husband when he qualified as a candidate.

Eve Would Be

Michigan Felon

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The first woman, Eve, would be a felon under a bill proposed in the Michigan Legislature.

The measure, introduced by Charles R. Feenstra, R-Grand Rapids, says that "anyone who steals fruit from an orchard, whether growing or picked, is guilty of a felony."

Some Bible-reading senators were quick to point out that Eve picked a fruit. They quoted Genesis, third chapter: "She took of the fruit thereof, and did eat and also gave unto her husband with her; and he did eat."

"We assume that the Garden of Eden was in Michigan, according to our tourist publicity. I just hope the bill never becomes retroactive—poor Eve," commented
Lt. Gov. T. John Lesinski.

New Action in

Cuba Makes Cash Tight

HAVANA (AP) — The Cuban government enacted new regulations Tuesday night to give it tighter control over monetary transactions and aid it in "the cardinal task of reaching in a short time the Socialist ordaining" of production.

The new law will make cash practically obsolete in transactions between business organizations.

It specifies that most of the few remaining private businesses and all government enterprises shall make "all payments and collections through the agencies of the National Bank."

All business transactions must be accompanied by invoices and official bank transfer forms. Cash payments may be made only after obtaining special permission from the National Bank, Cuba's sole banking institution.

'Old Lace' Was Simply Too Long

By FRED DANZIG
United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI)—In "Arsenic and Old Lace" Monday night, there came the scene where a critic was trussed, gagged and threatened with torture and death.

Now, I wasn't in the critic business when Joseph Kesselring's lace-covered sick joke scored on Broadway and therefore it didn't mean much back in 1941. But time marches on. I'm older and infinitely wiser, ahem, now and I want producer-director George Schaefer to know that I dig. I get your message, George old sport. And I'm chicken enough to be thoroughly intimidated by that particular scene in your "Hallmark Hall of Fame" production.

George, your 90-minute version of Kesselring's play was beautifully played. The leads—Dorothy Stickney, Mildred Natwick, Tony Randall, Tom Bosley, George Voskovec and Boris Karloff—went at the dialogue with enthusiasm and behaved with sufficient understanding to make their idiosyncratic shake, rattle and roll for the full distance.

However, the story—adapted by Robert Hartung and presented in color and live on NBC-TV, if "live" is the word for a play in which 13 corpses are stored in the cellar—just isn't my cup of elderberry wine. With me, the added coyness of the thing begins to wear thin after about 15 minutes.

As the plot busily deteriorated into a sophomoric maze of murder, romance, sibling rivalries and insanity, I amused myself by paying closer attention to the sly lines and Schaefer's masterful management of the action.

Warren Clymer's setting was filled with the old haunted house gimmicks and cranies. While I enjoyed the performances in this wheezy old play, I developed a special fondness for the work of Voskovec as Dr. Einstein, the seedy leering Peter Lorre-type of public enemy, and Karloff as Karloff.

Bosley, who achieved stardom by portraying Fiorello LaGuardia on Broadway, was bulky in the part of Teddy Roosevelt Brewster, except that he looked too young. Too much New Frontier in his makeup, not enough of the old Bullmoose.

The moral of the play: Never "truss" a critic.

Ask a simple question like, "What Time Is It?" and you get a one-hour documentary that ranges through bean plants, cockroaches, pendulums, Galileo, Albert Einstein's theory of relativity, computers, calendars, radio waves, quartz, light beams, geological time, space travel and atomic energy.

The documentary is "About the Time," was aired by NBC-TV Monday night as part of the "Bell System Science Series" and it was excellent. At least, for the likes of me it was excellent.

I think I'll still need two more possibly three, re-runs before I get the hang of Dr. Frank Baxter's simplified story about time.

The systematic format made skillful use of every visual aid—help tell the story. Especially impressive was the manner in which we were guided through Einstein's theory.

One fault: 'line about "friction on earth" slowing our planet down. They didn't explain what was meant by "gradually" and I had a heck on a time reassuring a sleepy 9-year-old boy.

Incidentally, Dr. Baxter never did tell the chap what time it was. Didn't even give him a phone number to call.

Hollywood Gets My Fair Lady

HOOLLYWOOD (AP) — After nearly five months of negotiation, Warner Bros. has bought the screen rights to the Broadway musical "My Fair Lady." It cost the studio a record $5.5 million.

The transaction was made public Tuesday in a joint announcement by Jack L. Warner, studio president, and William S. Paley, chairman of the board of the Columbia Broadcasting System.

CBS is the majority owner of the Alan Jay Lerner-Fredrick Loewe musical, based on George Bernard Shaw's play "Pygmalion."

Industry said the previous record price for movie rights to a play was the $2,270,000 that 20th Century-Fox paid for "South Pacific."

Faubus was elected in a special election after Rep. A. C. Mowery resigned to take a federal job.

Self Regulation Urged of Farmers

MEMPHIS (AP)—Assistant Agriculture Secretary James T. Ralph said Monday farmers should have the same privileges of self regulation available to other businesses and professions.

"We want to see made available to farmers a means of self regulation which allows them to protect our time honored institution of the family farm," he said.

Dr. Ralph told the Memphis Agricultural Club that self controls by business, professional and labor groups have helped maintain the capitalistic system in America.

Mistakes Can Happen to Everyone

By WILLIAM GLOVER
Associated Press Drama Critic

NEW YORK (AP) — Mistakes can happen to anyone, even English actors interpreting Master Shakespeare.

London's Old Vic Company is far off championship form with the "Macbeth" brought Tuesday night to City Center to launch a six-week engagement prior to a cross-country tour.

The scarlet drama of Scottish villainy emerges with a greenish pallor from the ambush devised by artistic director Michael Bent-hall and acted by a big troupe including John Clements, Barbara Jefford and William Sylvester.

All the pulsating vigor and poetry of the original have been largely stifled beneath a portentous ponderosity that is also strangely enervating.

Clements, the bloody upstart; Miss Jefford, his scolding lady; Sylvester, as Macduff, and the others are more puppets than credible people. Famous lines are given a jarring beat.

The settings, by Michael An-nals, feature a monstrous pair of battlements and a backdrop that resembles a schoolbook illustration of creation. They help dec-pen the somber tone.

Bobo Rockefeller May Wed Again

NEW YORK (AP) — Barbara (Bobo) Rockefeller today announced her engagement to hotelman Charles W. Mapes Jr. with the laughing quip: "I hope the engagement doesn't last as long as the thinking period."

Bobo, 45, divorced wife of Winthrop Rockefeller, said she met Mapes in 1954 and "we bought the engagement ring and put it in a safe deposit box."

"Now we've taken it out," she said at the El Morocco night club where she and Mapes were celebrating.

Mapes, 43, is the son of a pioneer Nevada cattle baron.

Presidents Making Use of Families

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy was not picked up what President Eisenhower started — the informal, personal, and even family louch in foreign affairs — and added some touches of his own.

His most glittering addition has been the decision to let his wife, Jacqueline Kennedy, make a goodwill trip to India and Pakistan next month.

Even Premier Khrushchev seems taken by the idea of making use of somebody besides ambassadors in foreign dealings.

He sent his son-in-law, Alexei Adzhubei, editor of Izvestia, over here last November to interview Kennedy. Last week Adzhubei came back for a three-hour luncheon at the White House.

President Truman, except at the beginning of his presidency, stayed pretty much to home, as did most of his predecessors except for the trips of Presidents Roosevelt and Wilson as a result of war.

Eisenhower in his first year traveled to Canada, Mexico and Bermuda on official business. Kennedy traveled even more in his first 12 months: to Canada, Bermuda, England, France, Austria (to see Khrushchev), Colombia, and Venezuela.

Eisenhower did much more traveling later in his presidency. Kennedy is a cinch to do more too.

In his first year Eisenhower used his family in foreign affairs, sending his brother, Dr. Milton Eisenhower, to Latin America on a fact-finding mission.

Also in 1953 he sent Vice President Richard M. Nixon on a goodwill visit to Asia.

Kennedy in his first year sent Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson on a goodwill journey to Asia. Now the president's brother, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, is making a 26-day goodwill trip through Asia and Europe.

This month the President's youngest brother, Edward M. Kennedy, is to go to Poland. But this has been described as a private trip with no arrangements for meeting the Communist leaders there.

Earlier last year the President sent both brothers, Edward and Robert, to Africa on separate missions. His brother-in-law, Sargent Shriver, visited South America in behalf of the Peace Corps he heads.

Sisters Jean Smith and Eunice Shriver took a vacation behind the Iron Curtain but managed to have tea with the wife of Yugoslavia's President Tito.

The Kennedy family is a big one and before the President's term is up the various members of it ought to cover a lot of international real estate.

Compared with today's jet-traveling world leaders, Stalin was a stay-at-home except for his wartime conferences with Khrushchev who put the personal touch by personal visit into Soviet foreign affairs.

Maybe he got the traveling idea from Eisenhower. Perhaps he thought of it himself. But he became quite a traveler, although he didn't start moving around until 1955. Then he made up for lost time.

Kennedy and Khrushchev have used their press relations men to work out some pretty important arrangements.

Last June 24 Pierre Salinger, Kennedy's press secretary, appeared on a TV debate in New York with Adzhubei and Mikhail Khramov, press officer of the Soviet Foreign Ministry, discussing the role of the press.

All three then came to Washington and for a couple of days talked about ways to improve communications between the United States and Russia.

Out of this discussion, which was right after Khrushchev had given interviews to three American newsmen in Russia, came the idea for Adzhubei's interview with Kennedy in November, the text of which was printed in Russia.

All this, of course, had Khrushchev's approval. There can hardly be any doubt he picked his son-in-law, who is also a member of the Soviet Communist party's Central Committee, to do the interviewing.

Last week, while Adzhubei was here to lunch with Kennedy, it was announced that Salinger had been invited to visit Russia later this year. He'll go, with Kennedy's full approval.

Manslaughter Case Passed
LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A manslaughter case stemming from the fatal shooting of a 27-year-old Henley man, Jimmy Span, was passed indefinitely today by Municipal Judge Quinn Glover.

Austin Horn, 41, of Henley had been charged in connection with the shotgun slaying of Spann at Horn's home in Henley. Glover said he passed the case so that if additional evidence were made available it could be reopened.

Through her angry bewilderment, she laid him down and covered him. Groping to the mantle, she found the night lamp and carried it to her own room.

Her own fire was still glowing, and Hilda wondered how Addie's fire could have gone out. At the same time, she distinctly remembered leaving Addie's door open when she went down to dinner. But just now it had been shut tight.

She looked at the night lamp and her lips tightened. It hadn't burned out as she'd thought. It was more than half full of oil. The wick had been turned down. Her mind darkened with anger. Hilda relit the lamp and carried it back to Addie's room. On impulse, she bent down and felt in her breast and burrowed into her hand. She talked to him soothingly and, soon, his grip relaxed. With a long sigh, he slid into sleep.

BROWNSTONE GOTHIC by Elizabeth Shonberger

THE STORY: Hilda Thorne, who has brought her young son to live with the Russells in New York of the 1870's is already aware of a strange overtone of the place. She has met Horace (Race) Nash, scapegrace brother of Aunt Judith.

Chapter 3
At last, the lengthy meal was over. At last, Judith Russell, clad in a sable cloak, while gloves reaching the length of her arms, and jeweled fan dangling from her wrist, departed with her husband and brother.

It was almost ten o'clock, and Hilda wondered aloud how much of the opera would remain to be heard.

Jenny stared at her and laughed. "Oh, I guess you don't know. Only the gallery people ever go for the first act. It's the only act the poor things ever hear. When the boxes fill up no one can hear anything but chatter. And Race says old Mrs. Parkhurst Jones gets out her car trumpet and makes her poor Cousin Ethel shriek down it the names of all the people there."

Hilda wondered if poor Cousin Ethel wasn't in something of the same position as "poor Cousin Ethel."

Jenny went on. "Mrs. June doesn't care who's singing, or what's happening on the stage. Once, a famous diva from Europe was doing one of those long dying arias, you know?"

Jenny got up and put her hands at her breast as though around the hump of a knife, and lurched dramatically around the drawing room. She fetched up against a table and dropped there pitifully.

"That was the moment," she said, "when old Mrs. Jones said in her most piercing voice, 'Ethel, who's that woman wearing all the chicken feathers, in the second box? She looks a freak! Well, the diva stopped dying and walked right off the stage. The galleries began to clap to bring her back. And the funniest part was, the boxes clapped, too! There were tears of laughter in Jenny's eyes. 'They thought the act was over. Nobody had seen what happened on the stage, they were so busy staring at the poor woman with the chicken feathers.'"

A silence followed which Hilda broke by, hopefully, suggesting it was time for bed. Jenny didn't seem to hear. She moved restlessly to a window and twitched the heavy drapes aside.

"Miss Maggy laught me never to look out at night when anyone might see me. Very common, you know. But I love to watch the carriages going by, and I think about when they finally let me stop going to those stupid young parties, and I'm really out."

Her tone turned dreamy as she went on. "Tonight, they'll all go on to Delmonico's, after the opera. Everybody does, unless Mrs. Astor is having one of her squashes."

She dropped the drape abruptly and turned around. "I'm really not as light-headed as I sound, Hilda. Only, it's so tiresome when you're not a child any more."

Hilda said good night on the second-floor landing, asking first if there was anything she could do.

"No, thank you," Jenny gave her an understanding smile. "Your duties don't go that far. Besides, my maid is waiting for me now. And Miss Maggy always comes to see me when Aunt Judith is out. You'd think I still had to be tucked up!"

Halfway up to the third floor, Hilda stopped and listened. Then, gathering her skirts in her hands, she began to run.

All the way down the long hall, she could hear the small, panicky whimper, "Mamma . . . Mamma . . . Mamma . . ."

She flung open Addie's door. The room was pitch-dark and icy. The fire was out and so was the little night lamp.

Addie was face down in his bed, the quilt pulled over his head. She sat beside him and gathered him in her arms. He turned his face to her breast and burrowed into her hand. She talked to him soothingly and, soon, his grip relaxed. With a long sigh, he slid into sleep.

Gently, she laid him down and covered him. Groping to the mantle, she found the night lamp and carried it to her own room.

A Form of Poor Man's Psychiatry

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Who are you?

You can tell a person not only by what he is for but also by what he is against.

If you want to play an interesting game with yourself, sit down sometime with a pad of paper and write down a list of things you dislike.

It is a form of poor man's psychiatry. It will help tell you what kind of a person you really are. If the list is too long, maybe you're finicky. If it is too short, maybe you're wishy-washy.

Here is an off-hand catalog of things I've found distasteful in my first 50 years of living—things that rile me up, annoy me, or make me wish I were somewhere else:

People who argue religion, or try to sell you their own shortcut to God.

Bus drivers who, when you give them a dollar bill, hand you back 20 nickels in change.

Lamb, mutton, brussels sprouts, venison and caviar.

Hostesses who introduce you to another guest with the remark, "You two should get along famously—you have so much in common."

Shipboard costume parties at which fat ladies show up as underdressed Cleopatras with a giant rhinestone on their navel.

Middle-aged lovers with a passion for necking in public.

People who try to top your last funny story—and do.

Chihuahua dogs, German shepherd dogs that growl, Great Dane dogs that want to sit in your lap, and hot dogs that aren't all beef.

Military officers who try to put civilians in their place by ostentatiously addressing them as "sir."

Husbands named Smith or Brown who always speak of their wives as "Mrs. Smith" or "Mrs. Brown" instead of "my wife."

Doctors who invariably treat you with two-color capsules. Why is a pink-and-brown capsule any more effective than a plain green or a plain white capsule?

People who wouldn't donate a dime to feed a starving man but brag about how much blood they've given to the Red Cross.

Women who automatically think any man who wears a beard is trying to cover up an inferiority complex.

Letters that begin, "As a recognized leader in your community, you have been chosen among a select few for this unusual opportunity to—"

Women who talk about baseball and politics as if they know more about them than I do—and it turns out they do.

People who—
But enough about me. "Now tell me about yourself." What's on your list of favorite dislikes?

Millions Visit State Reservoirs
LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Reservoirs in Arkansas and southern Missouri drew 7,782,300 visitors during 1961, the Little Rock District of the Army Engineers reported Monday.

The Engineers said this was an increase of about one-half million over 1960.

The Table Rock project in southwest Missouri led all Little Rock District projects with 3,369,900, an increase of about 50 per cent over 1960. Norfolk drew over a million persons and Bull Shoals two million.

The number of visitors to the projects is estimated from actual counts, from traffic markers and from reports from boat dock operators.

Fleeman Funeral
MANILA, Ark. (AP) — Funeral services were scheduled here today for state Rep. E. C. (Gene) Fleeman, former House speaker, who died Sunday in Palm Beach, Fla. Burial also will be here. Fleeman, 55, was the oldest member of the House from point of continuous service.

State Being Used in Experiment
LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Federal Bureau of Public Roads is using the Arkansas State Highway Department as a pilot project for creation of a more streamlined system of accounting. It was announced today.

L. E. Bennett, chief of the audit, standards and procedures branch of the BPR, said today the purpose of the project is to eventually set up a model system of accounting in all the states.

Bennett said Arkansas is pioneering in the new accounting system and that it may be used as a model for other states. He said Arkansas was among states chosen for the pilot program because the "federal government can completely rely on its system."

Baptists Okay Negro Students
ARKADELPHIA, Ark. (AP) — Members of the First Baptist Church here have voted to "look with favor" on applications for membership of "foreign-Negro students at Ouachita Baptist College who are recommended by two or more Southern Baptist missionaries."

The church action opens its rolls to Mr. and Mrs. Michael Makashole of Southern Rhodesia who were enrolled at Ouachita last month under the college's policy of accepting Negro students from countries in which the Southern Baptist church has missionaries. The vote was taken on a secret ballot at Sunday morning's meeting.

Hospital Building Ceilings Checked
LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Dr. George W. Jackson, superintendent of the State Hospital, said today that an engineering crew is checking all ceilings in a building where a section fell Sunday.

A heavy section of ceiling fell in an empty ward of building C North Sunday, crushing iron beds. Jackson said today that ceiling sections that appear to be solid are the ones that seem to be falling. He termed the situation as "running about 15 minutes ahead of disaster," and said "it scares us to think about it."

Half of the building is to be demolished to make way for new construction. But other sections will be used for patients.

Jackson said hospital authorities may decide the only recourse is to knock all ceilings out of the building and replace them with temporary materials.

Water Resources Hearing Set
LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A public hearing in connection with a survey report on development of water resources of the Fourche La Pave River Basin in Yell and Perry counties will be held March 1 in the National Guard Armory at Perryville.

Col. John C. Dalrymple, U.S. Army District Engineer, said the report was to determine advisability of further improvements in the Basin in the interest of flood control and supplemental water for agricultural purposes.

The report was authorized by a resolution adopted March 16, 1954, by the Committee on Public Works of the U.S. House of Representatives, but funds for the study were not made available by the Congress until this fiscal year.

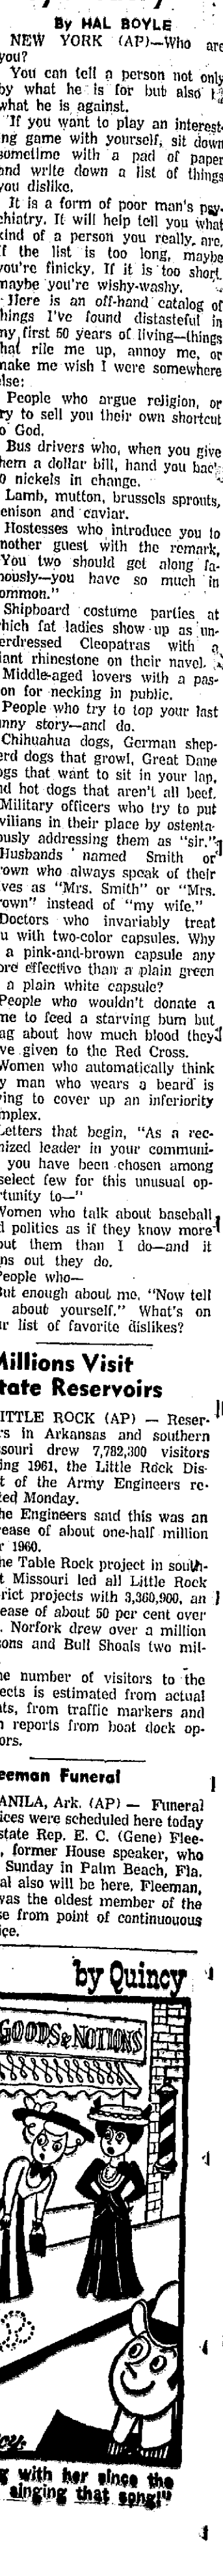

Nimrod Dam and Reservoir on the Fourche La Pave River near Plainview has been in operation for flood control since 1942.

ment, one thought kept going around and around. Who would do such a thing to a child?

Who? And above all why?

Duke Is Jolted by Wolfpack of Carolina State

By SHELTON SAKOWITZ
Associated Press Sports Writer

North Carolina State's Wolfpack, a former collegiate basketball power in the Atlantic Coast Conference, is on the prowl again. They jolted nationally rated Duke, Tuesday night for the second time this season.

Coach Everett Case's team, despite a de-emphasis program and a schedule reduction because of last year's six scandals, temporarily ditched the fifth-ranked Blue Devils' league title aspirations at Raleigh, N.C., 71-55.

The loss gave Duke a 7-2 ACC record and a 14-3 over-all. The Blue Devils lead idle Wake Forest, which is second at 6-2, by a half-game. The Wolfpack moved right into contention, climbing past North Carolina into third place with a 6-3 slate.

North Carolina, which had bowed to Duke Saturday night, was stunned by underdog Maryland 79-62 at College Park, Md. The setback dropped the Tar Heels into fourth with a 5-3 mark.

Duke's defeat came with its high-scoring junior, Art Heyman, on the sidelines with a sprained right ankle.

North Carolina State, an old hand at winning ACC regular season and tournament championships in 1953, 1956 and 1959, had a relatively easy time of disposing of Duke. Russ Marvel headed Wolfpack scoring with 22 points.

The nip-and-tuck Southwest Conference race produced its share of surprises. Texas Christian upset league-leading Texas Tech 63-61 at Lubbock and underdog Baylor knocked off heavily favored Arkansas 76-60 at Waco.

Texas A&M moved into a tie for first place with Texas Tech by thrashing Rice 88-73 at College Station while Southern Methodist won an 84-82 overtime decision over Texas at Dallas to remain in title contention.

Texas Tech and Texas A&M are tied for the lead with 5-2 records. Rice and SMU share the runnerup spot at 4-3 and Texas is 3-3.

Wichita moved into a second-place tie in the Missouri Valley Conference with idle Cincinnati, No. 3 nationally. The Shockers polished off North Texas State 105-75 for a 6-2 league record, one game behind pace-setting Bradley.

In other games: Notre Dame utilized a height advantage and led from the outset in overpowering Canisius 88-72 despite a 28-point harvest by visitors' Bill O'Connor; Bobby Robinson collected 24 points as South Carolina throttled Clemson 86-74 in an ACC test; Memphis State coasted to an 88-70 success over William & Mary or its 14th victory in 19

Texarkana in Two Wins From Local Teams

By VINCE FOSTER

Texarkana took two games from Hope last night, as the "B" team was edged out 52-48 and the Lady Cats were taken 42-31.

Hope trailed throughout the girls' game, and were behind 17-15 at the half. They were outscored 14-5 in the third quarter, but both teams took 11 each in the final one with the Hope Ladies losing 42-31. Calhoun was high for Hope with 22, followed by Smith with 8. Callicutt completed the scoring with a free throw.

In the 15 games the girls have played this season, Melba Calhoun leads the scoring with 200 points, followed by Lera Callicutt with 162 and Janice Lloyd with 120.

Bill Reinhardt sacked 17 points in the first quarter to put Hope "B" squad out front 21-15. However, they fell behind 33-31 at the half and 39-34 in the third quarter. The locals outscored Texarkana 14-13 in the final period but that just wasn't enough and the buzzer sounded with the score Texarkana 52, Hope 48. Reinhardt was high for Hope with 19, followed by Hughes with 10, Thrash and Sprague had 5 each, McDowell 5, and Wassell 2.

Friday night at Jones Field House will be the most important game for the Bobcats thus far this season. They meet the league leading Smackover Bucks whom the Cats trail by only one game, which was a loss to the Bucks earlier in the season. The public is urged to attend with full support. The Kittens play at 7 p.m. with the Bobcats playing immediately afterwards. Remember this game Friday night at Jones Field House.

R. Kennedys Welcomed by Students

By CONRAD FINK

OSAKA, Japan (AP)—U.S. Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy challenged Japan's youth today to join in a worldwide fight against poverty, ignorance and disease.

"As young people, we can do battle together as brothers to make great progress," Kennedy told students at a petroleum institute in the heart of Japan's booming industrial area.

Enthusiastic students mobbed Kennedy when he arrived, reaching to shake his hand and shouting hello. Everywhere Kennedy went on this second leg of his six-day visit to Japan he received a warm, friendly welcome.

As his motorcade sped through the countryside villagers and farm workers gathered to wave. At one point he leaned out to shake hands campaign style, and a student handed him an amulet intended to safeguard travelers.

Kennedy questioned the students at the petroleum institute closely about their studies and told them: "You have the responsibility to help in the fight that has to be fought by all young people throughout the world against poverty, ignorance and disease."

Several students asked how young Americans feel about the future.

"They feel that great problems are facing us," Kennedy replied. "But they also feel the future has great potential."

"We, as young people, know what great accomplishments can be made," Kennedy, who flew with his wife to Osaka from Tokyo this morning, also toured an electrical plant that turns out 100,000 TV sets a month. He asked company officials about the workers' wages and working conditions.

The Kennedys lunched with the workers and union officials on whale steak. Attacking the meat with chopsticks, the Kennedys ate large portions as they talked with the workers.

The visit to Osaka, Nara and Kyoto is taking the American visitors through some of the most beautiful and historic parts of old Japan but relatively little time was allotted for sightseeing.

The attorney general and his party will return to the capital late Thursday for another busy round before departing for Hong Kong Saturday.

No Proof of Any Unusual Space Ship

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP) — They might have been birds, balloons, hoaxes or unusual sky lights—but not spacecraft from other planets. That is the word from the Air Force today after 15 years of investigating flying saucer reports. It said there was no evidence that any of the 7,319 unidentified flying objects checked on were spaceships swooping in from distant planets.

To date, no unidentified flying object—UFO—has given any indication of threat to the national security, the Air Force concluded in summing up its investigations from 1947 through last year.

It said its "Project Blue Book" has turned up no evidence that any of the unidentified sightings represented technological advances "beyond the range of our present day scientific knowledge," or that any of the UFO's were "extraterrestrial vehicles under intelligent controls."

During 1961, the Air Force's of Yerger Loses 2 of 3 to Blevins

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Last night Yerger teams of Hope dropped two of three games to the Blevins Training School.

The Junior girls lost the opener 16-9. The Junior boys had a fairly easy time in rolling up an 18-4 score over the visitors. Stuart made 9 points. Smith, McFadden, Powell and Green had two each.

The Tigers led the contest until late in the third quarter. The game was tied with three minutes to go but the Tigers lost by a 31-24 score. Scott was high for Hope with 8 points.

Search Continues for Escapees

JAY, Okla. (AP)—A search was continued today for the second of two men who escaped Tuesday from the county jail here after the capture of one of them Tuesday night.

A posse captured Jerry Hill Hopkins on a county road five miles west of Jay.

The other fugitive, Richard Alvin Woodring, 39, and Hopkins, 20, sawed their way out of the jail here early Tuesday.

ORDINANCE NO. 787

AN ORDINANCE TO BE AN ORDINANCE, ENTITLED: "AN ORDINANCE LEVYING AN ANNUAL FRANCHISE TAX ON CERTAIN GAS COMPANIES OPERATING WITHIN THE CITY OF HOPE, ARKANSAS, AND FOR OTHER PURPOSES."

BE IT ORDAINED BY THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS OF THE CITY OF HOPE, ARKANSAS:

SECTION 1. That for the privilege of using the public streets, alleys, avenues, public grounds and places in the City of Hope, Arkansas, necessary in furnishing natural gas to the inhabitants of said city, and the furnishing, selling and distributing of natural gas within the said City of Hope, Arkansas, as a public utility, all gas companies having set up and in operation one hundred fifty (150) or more gas meters through which gas is sold to customers in the City of Hope, Arkansas, shall pay to said city a franchise tax as hereinafter set out.

SECTION 2. Beginning on December 31, 1961, and at the close of each calendar year thereafter, such gas companies shall determine the average number of domestic and commercial meters for the preceding year within the corporate limits of the City of Hope, Arkansas, and shall inform the City Treasurer of the result of such calculation. A franchise tax shall then be computed by multiplying the average number of meters by $2.00 per meter.

SECTION 3. On or before March 1, 1962, and each year thereafter, such gas companies shall pay to the City Treasurer of the City of Hope, Arkansas, the amount of the tax for the preceding year as herein provided; provided that for good cause shown said payor may be granted an additional period of thirty (30) days after said payment becomes due within which to make said payment to the City of Hope.

SECTION 4. The payments made under this ordinance by the gas company, or companies, affected shall be made in lieu of all other taxes, licenses, charges, fees or impositions, (other than the usual, or special ad valorem taxes), which might be legally imposed by the City, under the authority conferred by law.

SECTION 5. All ordinances, or parts of ordinances, in conflict herewith, are hereby repealed.

SECTION 6. Because of the increase in the costs of material and labor, and the depreciation of the value of the dollar, it is necessary that the present franchise tax levied on certain gas companies in the City of Hope, Arkansas, be increased to the end that each will bear its fair share of the tax burden, thereby preserving the public peace, health and safety, an emergency is hereby declared to exist, and this ordinance shall take effect and be in full force from, and after, its passage and approval.

Porkers Beat by Free Tosses at Waco 76-60

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

WACO, Tex. (AP)—The faltering Arkansas Razorbacks handed Baylor its first Southwest Conference victory of the season Tuesday night, bowing 76-60.

Sophomore Ray Wolfe scored 30 points to provide the Bears with the upset of the season in conference play.

Baylor took over the lead with only three minutes gone and never gave it away.

At halftime the Porkers moved to within three points, 31-30, and remained in contention until midway in the final frame when Baylor began to move.

Four Bears scored in double figures while Arkansas' scoring twins Tommy Boyer and Jerry Carlton played their usually fine game.

Boyer led the Porkers' futile scoring attack with 21 points while Carlton dropped in 17.

Although Arkansas matched Baylor point-for-point in field goals the Porkers lost at the free throw line.

Percentage-wise the Hogs did well at the charity line, hitting 12 of 15 but Baylor dropped in 28 of 35 and this proved to be the victory margin.

On the boards, Arkansas was out rebounded badly, 41-29.
